3. The Soviet units have at their disposal a fund from which German employees are paid. The units stationed in and around Falkensee request the assignment of laborers at the special construction bureau at Falkensee where they deposit the wages to be paid to these laborers. The request is then forwarded to the local labor office. Mostly firemen, garden workers, kitchen personnel and charwomen are required. Working hours are from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. After late-July 1951, all the German laborers recruited this way by the air force headquarters in Falkensee, the air units in Doeberitz and Staaken, and at Schoenwalde airfield, were dismissed. They were to be replaced by Russians. However, the arrival of such Soviet workers has not been observed prior to 1 September.
